

The operators of these pages take the protection of your personal data very seriously. We treat them confidentially and in accordance with the legal provisions on data protection and this privacy policy.

The data collected by the FISAIC are:

- for data of the FISAIC activities:
 - ✓ facilitate contacts and better identify contact
 - ✓ for purely advertising purposes by adding photos, comments and even direct contact with the association
- for the visitors of the homepage: the use of our website is generally possible without providing any personal information. In so far as personal data (e.g. name, address or e-mail address) are collected on our side, this is always done, as far as possible, on an individual basis. This information will not be disclosed to third parties without your explicit consent. Internet pages use cookies in part. Cookies do not harm your computer or contain viruses. Cookies are used to make our offer more user-friendly, efficient and secure. Cookies are small text files stored on your computer and stored by your browser.

For logos, contact information and photographs, as well as for international cultural events, each country will need to ensure that the interested parties or participants agree to the dissemination of their photo(s), or even their name and surname, on the FISAIC website and on any publications issued by FISAIC.

You have the right at any time to receive information about your stored personal data, their origin, recipient and purpose of data processing, as well as the right to correct, block or delete it. For more information about personal data, please contact us at any time at the address indicated below or via our contact form.
